A: The Plateau

Elevated above the former dockyard, this iconic new crescent of modern Town Houses is the definition of panoramic. These tall, roomy houses want to sea and be seen, with big windows and even bigger views.

B: The Docks

New Dock Houses will circle the former dock basin. Inspired by the tall, jostling houses of pre-industrial ports, these quayside homes will also host independent shops, cafés and restaurants on the waterside promenade.

C: The Terraces

These homes take their inspiration from the Georgian and Victorian townhouses of Tynemouth, and the colourful terraces of British seaside towns. The Terraces flow down the slopes of the former dockyard, offering coastal views, private spaces and

D: The Waterfront

Smokehouses will line the river's edge, bringing you even closer to the Tyne. These waterside apartments take their inspiration from the simple smoke houses of the Fish Quay. They make the perfect home for those with seafaring souls.
